QUALITY TRUST FOR INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES

- Mission: To be an independent catalyst for change, partnering with people with disabilities, their families, advocates, professionals, and providers to create a community where everyone is respected and valued, belongs and contributes, and shapes their own present and future.

- Experience: Demonstrated knowledge and expertise related to guardianship and other decision-making support strategies for people with disabilities over the past 15 years of operation.
Supports and services that help an adult with a disability make his or her own decisions, by using friends, family members, professionals, and other people he or she trusts to:

- Help understand the issues and choices;
- Ask questions;
- Receive explanations in language he or she understands; and
- Communicate his or her own decisions to others.

(See, e.g., Blanck & Martinis 2015; Dinerstein 2012; Salzman 2011)
CONTINUUM OF DECISION-MAKING SUPPORTS

- Supported Decision-Making
  - Advance Directive &/ or Power of Attorney
  - Representative payee
  - Other Substitute or Surrogate Health Care Decision Maker, depending on state law
  - Court-appointed Guardian and/or Conservator
    - Temporary or Permanent
    - General/Plenary or Limited
What is “Guardianship” for Adults?

- Guardianship is:
  - A formal legal step that removes some or all decision-making from an adult and assigns it to a fiduciary, called a “guardian.”

- To be a guardian over an adult, a person has to go through a court process and get a court order.

- It can vary in scope -- time-limited vs. permanent; general vs. limited.

- Guardianship laws vary by state
WHY DO PEOPLE THINK ABOUT GETTING GUARDIANSHIP?
WHY DO PEOPLE THINK ABOUT GETTING GUARDIANSHIP?

Family members and support teams may:

- Have been told by the person’s school to do so
- Be concerned about:
  - health care and access to a doctor.
  - financial abuse
  - linking the person to available services
- See the person in crisis or an emergency
WHY THINK ABOUT OTHER OPTIONS FIRST?

- Guardianship takes away some or all of a person’s rights to make important decisions about his or her life.

- The court will become part of both the guardian’s and the person’s life going forward.

- Guardianship can change relationships.

- Guardianship can take time and cost money.

- For many people with disabilities, decision-making should be seen as a learned skill – people need the opportunity to practice!
Self-Determination

- Life control — People’s ability and opportunity to be “causal agents . . . Actors in their lives instead of being acted upon”
  (Wehmeyer, Palmer, Agran, Mithaug, & Martin, 2000, p. 440)

People with disabilities with greater self-determination are:

- More independent
- More integrated into their communities
- Healthier
- Better able to recognize and resist abuse

More Evidence

- When denied self-determination, people can:
  - Experience low self-esteem, passivity, and feelings of inadequacy and incompetency,” decreasing their ability to function (Winick 1995, p. 21).

- Decreased Life Outcomes
  - Overbroad or undue guardianship can cause a “significant negative impact on . . . physical and mental health, longevity, ability to function, and reports of subjective well-being” (Wright, 2010, p. 354)
Students with disabilities who have self-determination skills are more likely to successfully make the transition to adulthood, including improved education, employment, and independent living outcomes (Wehmeyer & Schwartz, 1997)
People with intellectual and developmental disabilities who do not have a guardian are more likely to:

- Have a paid job
- Live independently
- Have friends other than staff or family
- Go on dates and socialize in the community
- Practice the religion of their choice

(National Core Indicators, 2013-2014)
“Alternatives to guardianship, including supported decision making, should always be identified and considered whenever possible prior to the commencement of guardianship proceedings.”

“A student [who is an adult] need not be placed under guardianship in order for his or her family to remain involved in educational decisions. Guardianship places significant restrictions on the rights of an individual. Students and parents are urged to consider information about less restrictive alternatives.”

Guardianship has been the default option for students with intellectual disabilities (Payne-Christiansen & Sitlington, 2008).

Estimated number of adults under guardianship has tripled since 1995 (Reynolds, 2002; Schmidt, 1995; Uekert & Van Duizend, 2011).

90% of the public guardianship cases reviewed resulted in plenary/general guardianship - where the guardian is empowered to make all decisions for the person. (Teaster, Wood, Lawrence, & Schmidt, 2007)
Guardianship may be needed:

- In emergency situations when
  - The person is incapacitated and cannot give consent
  - The person did not previously identify how decisions should be made in that situation
  - There is no one else available in the person’s life to provide consent through a Power of Attorney, Advanced Directive, or other means

- To support people:
  - Who face critical decisions and have no interest in or ability to make decisions
  - Who need immediate protection from exploitation or abuse
GUARDIANSHIP IS NEVER NEEDED JUST:

- “Because you have an IQ of ___”
- “Because you have ____ diagnosis”
- “Because you need help”
- “Because that’s the way its always been”

That’s not enough.
Finding the Right Support:
- What kind of decision needs to be made?
- How much risk is involved?
- How hard would it be to undo the decision?
- Has the person made a decision like this before?
- Is the decision likely to be challenged?

Ask: What is the least restrictive support that might work?
Rethink “Capacity”

- Capacity is not
  - “all or nothing”
  - Based solely on IQ or diagnosis.

- People may have “capacity” to:
  - Make some decisions but not others.
  - Make decisions some times but not others.
  - Make decisions if they get help understanding the decision to be made.

- A lack of opportunity to make decisions can prevent people from developing capacity or further decrease capacity (Salzman, 2010)
Rethink “Assessments”

Skills/Capacity

- Expectations
- Life Experiences
- Risk
- Environment
- Available Support
- Preferences and Interests
- Culture
- Other Variables
  (individual and situational)
Many decisions are made every day
- Some are big, and some are small.

Typical decision-making is flawed

No standard way to measure “goodness”

Culture and personal values are important
- Most life decisions are personal

History, experience, and relationships often reflect personal preference and identity

Brain and decision making science are deepening our understanding of ways to help
An approach to assisting people with making life decisions that mirrors how everyone makes decisions.

Gives people the help they need and want to understand the situations and choices they face, so they can make their own decisions.

Supported Decision-Making ≠ Substitute Decision-Making
“Don’t judge me before you know me”

“Ryan is a whole person. We want him to be whole. The decision process is part of being whole. If I try to force Ryan to do something, I am destroying his selfness and being whole. He is a whole person and he is making decisions and I encourage him.”

Supported Decision-Making: How?

- There is no “one size fits all” method of Supported Decision-Making
  - SDM looks different for different people and families

- It is a paradigm, not a process or program
  - It means working with the person to identify where help is needed and finding a way to provide any help that’s needed.
- The key question is “what will it take?”
Supported Decision-Making "solutions also are different for each person. Some people need one-on-one support and discussion about the issue at hand. For others, a team approach works best. Some people may benefit from situations being explained pictorially. With supported decision-making the possibilities are endless."

Administration for Community Living, “Preserving the Right to Self-determination: Supported Decision-Making”
Supported Decision-Making (SDM)
Quality Trust for Individuals with Disabilities

What is SDM?
- A process in which people who need assistance with decision-making receive the help they need and want to make life decisions for themselves.
- Provides people with the support they need to make decisions about their lives.

What can you do?
- Acknowledge decision-making as a basic human right and natural part of the human experience.
- Expect that all children with disabilities will develop as decision-makers and ensure involvement in decision-making when needed (e.g., friends, family, trusted professionals and others).
- Learn to evaluate the need for intervention by weighing the risk of harm or failure with the risk of loss of dignity, well-being, and overall quality of life.
- Educate people and families on the options available.

What happens now?
- Little to no emphasis on teaching decision-making skills.
- Low expectations for children or adults with disabilities to be involved in decision-making in meaningful ways.
- Stigmatization of people with disabilities.

Providing Support
- Take direction from the person and his or her will and preferences.
- Customize actions to align with the person.
- Find new tools for your toolbox (communication, peer support, practical experiences, life coaching).
- Be flexible and try multiple ways.

Rethinking Support
- How do all people become good decision-makers?
- What role and responsibility do professional “helpers” have to support individual decision-making?
- What about the role of families?
- What could support look like? (on a size that will work for all)

Reference
All forms of SDM recognize:

- The person’s autonomy, presumption of capacity, and right to make decisions on an equal basis with others;
- That a person can take part in a decision-making process that does not remove his or her decision-making rights; and
- People will often need assistance in decision-making through such means as interpreter assistance, facilitated communication, assistive technologies, and plain language.

“If State law permits parental rights under the IDEA to transfer to a student who has reached the age of majority, that student can become the educational rights holder who invites family members to participate in the IEP meeting.”

“If the adult student does not want to have that role, he or she can execute a power of attorney authorizing a family member to be the educational decision-maker.”

“Alternatively, . . . a supported decision-making arrangement can be established consistent with applicable State procedures, in which the parents (or other representatives) assist the student in making decisions, if the student has not been determined to be incompetent but does not have the ability to provide informed consent with respect to his or her educational programs.”

SDM in Education: How?

- Help the adult student sign a FERPA Release Form.
- Help the student get ready for meetings ahead of time.
- Make sure IEP team meetings are student-friendly.
- Slow the conversation down – No rushing decisions.
- Support the student in leading or participating his or her own IEP meeting.
- Start Early!
In 2013, D.C. Public Schools adopted SDM for adult students in special education – without any special law or regulatory change.

- D.C. Public Schools, Transfer of Rights Guidelines (Aug. 2013)
  - Recognizes supported decision-making as an alternative to guardianship for adult students with disabilities in D.C.

I understand that I may create a network of individuals to help me inform my educational decisions related to my Individualized Education Program (IEP) once I reach the age of majority. I would like the following individual(s) to assist me with making educational decisions. I understand that my parent or other individuals may support me in the decision making process and may have access to the documents listed below.

WHERE IS SDM IN THE LAW?

- SDM doesn’t need to be expressly in state law for you to use it!

- Remember the Americans with Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act.

- Think of supports that a student uses to make his or her own decisions as disability-related accommodations.
Supported Decision-Making in Education

- Include the student in IEP meetings, starting in elementary school.

- Support IEP goals and objectives related to self-determination and decision-making.
  - For every goal, there should be an application of self-determination to get there. Use “I statements”
  - Promote student involvement and accountability.
Like “Capacity” is to guardianship, informed consent is the lynchpin of self-determination in medical care.

Three Key Parts:

- Information to the person
- Understanding by the person
- Choice by the person
Supported Decision-Making in Health Care

- Remember the Americans with Disabilities Act!
  - Doctor must reasonably accommodate the person’s disability when obtaining his or her informed consent.
    - Assistance can be provided to help the person make and participate in medical decisions:
      - “Explain that to me in English”

- Remember not all medical decisions are the same!
  - Flu Shot vs. Surgery

- Remember “HIPAA” Release Forms!
  - The person can sign a release form to authorize the doctor to share confidential information with the person’s supporters, so they can provide support to the person in making his or her own decisions.

You Can Use Supported Decision-Making

- To help the person understand all components of the plan
- To help the person prioritize what is important to him/her
- To help the person build a network of supporters for the plan and beyond
- To help the person communicate and implement his or her choices
IT TAKES A NETWORK

A Supported Decision-Making Team can include:

- The Person
- The Person's chosen Friends, Family, Professionals
- Case Manager
- Providers
- Advocates
- Anyone Else who Can Contribute!

THINK BROADLY!
TEAMWORK

Review!
- Go through each area of the individual's life.
- Example: Financial, Medical, Social, Employment

Brainstorm!
- Does the person need support in these areas?
- If so, talk about what support could help, who could provide it, and how Write!

- As you develop support solutions, create a written plan or “road map” for the person and team to use.

To Reach the SDM Goal:

Every person should be part of every decision about his or her life.

- We all need help making decisions.

- Older adults and people with disabilities may need more or different help, but should be supported to exercise their Right to Make Choices in their own lives.
